

Last Week for Liberty Travel's CruiseFest 2010

Liberty Travel's CruiseFest 2010 enters its second and final week this Monday, giving anyone interested in taking a cruise a short window to take advantage of the exclusive savings that are a part of the annual sale.

One of the best deals in the sale reflects a fast-growing trend in cruising—river cruises. Once favored by a niche market, river and small ship voyages have gotten attention from the mainstream travel set in the past five years, as more and more cruisers seek out new destinations and experiences.

Liberty Travel is currently featuring up to $2,200* dollars in savings on a Danube River Cruise with Avalon Waterways, one of the top names in river and small ship cruises, and part of the Globus family of brands. Avalon Waterways has built a stellar reputation on its luxurious ships, guided sightseeing, fine dining, and expertly crafted itineraries in Europe, China, Egypt and the Galapagos Islands.

CruiseFest 2010 also features a huge selection of cruises to destinations including the Bahamas, the Caribbean, Bermuda, Alaska, Mexico, the Panama Canal, and more. CruiseFest 2010 features offers that include a wide selection of added value amenities, including shipboard credit, reduced deposits and stateroom upgrades. Some offers even include multiple added-value amenities. For example, travelers can book a 4-day Bahamas cruise aboard Norwegian Cruise Line's Norwegian Sky from $159*, with 50% reduced deposit, up to $250 shipboard credit per cabin, and up to a 4-category upgrade.

Liberty Travel's CruiseFest ends October 23, 2010. Anyone interested in booking a cruise can find their nearest Liberty Travel location by visiting libertytravel.com, or call a Liberty Travel Vacation Expert at 1-877.LIBERTY.

*Conditions apply. See libertytravel.com for details.

ENDS

Released on October 14, 2010

Contact: PR@libertytravel.com