Escorted tours have been somewhat of a travel trend in 2010. Liberty Travel, one of the largest retail travel agencies in the US, has featured two major sale campaigns focusing on escorted travel in the past year, as well as smaller promotions like the exclusive Globus offer currently underway. Escorted tours have been a long-time favorite among a niche group of travelers, but have gotten more mainstream attention due to the numerous advantages they offer: they are highly affordable, offer an authentic, in-depth travel experience, the chance to travel in style and comfort, and are hassle-free, with tour directors taking care of all the logistical parts of the trip.

With more than 80 years of international travel expertise, Globus is the world's leading tour operator. Globus has teams of people on the ground in more than 65 countries around the world, and is an expert in providing travelers "a holiday from the everyday" by helping them truly experience each destination. Globus brings to life cultures and histories through storytelling and in-depth journeys in the heart of each city, region or country.

Globus has been honored with countless industry awards, including Travel Weekly's Reader's Choice Awards three years running and Recommend magazine's Best Tour Operator to Europe for more than 10 consecutive years. The Globus family of brands is a member of Sustainable Travel International (STI).
